

The Rainbow Path Internship

A Spiritual Lifestyle Program

Welcome!

It is with great pleasure to welcome you on a Rainbow Path Internship with the Whirling Rainbow Foundation's GrandMother Drum International Peace Project.

The Rainbow Path program features a balanced and conscious approach and uses mainly work service as a path for self-awareness, and ultimately self-acceptance—the key to transformation. You contribute 25-40 hours of service work per week, in a skill-matched position with your gifts and talents.

In exchange Rainbow Path participants gain experience working within an intentional community by living at our Alaskan wilderness center, leading workshops locally, attending international forums and touring throughout the world with The GrandMother Drum International Peace Project.

During your internship, your food and housing will be provided at the Whirling Rainbow Center in Palmer Alaska or on the road with the tour. To expand and deepen your learning you will also have the opportunity to participate free in all our cultural and healing arts classes, take online courses, attend special presentations and group sessions on shamanic practices for conscious living, attend rites of passages ceremonies, international conferences on peace, spirituality and earth stewardship.

We welcome you and support you in embarking on this dynamic spiritual lifestyle program.

Sincerely,

Suraj Holzwarth, Program Director
